Foreword

Since 1932 the Whitney Museum has held a series of annual and biennial exhibitions surveying the field of contemporary American art. In the present exhibition, like its predecessors, the artists participate by invitation instead of submitting to a jury, and the works are selected by members of the Museum's staff. By a tradition which goes back to Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney's first activities in American art, no prizes are awarded in this exhibition. An innovation this year is a small retrospective exhibition of the boxes of Joseph Cornell, which forms a part of the larger show. From time to time the Museum plans to recognize the work of outstanding artists in this way.

This year's annual exhibition consists entirely of sculpture and drawings. Next year's exhibition will be devoted to paintings.

The exhibition is made possible by the cooperation of art galleries, museums, private collectors and artists who have generously made loans to the exhibition and to whom we wish to make grateful acknowledgment.

A generous donation from the Friends of the Whitney Museum has made possible the more comprehensive and more fully illustrated catalogues of the last three Annuals, including this one.
